We moved to Boddington 2 years ago when I became the new owner of the Boddington Post Office.

I was born in South Africa and immigrated to Australia in 2010 and became a citizen in 2015. My career: I started as an apprentice Electrician and qualified as a licensed Electrician. I worked for various industries e.g. Manufacturing, Building Industry, Mining sector and Shift Electrician for the last 11 years at Cement Australia in Gladstone Qld.

I made a career change to take on the challenge of managing the Boddington Post Office so that we can be closer to our children.

With my strong technical background, I feel that I have a broad understanding of the workings of our council and will be a strong representative for the community and locals to look after their interests and to represent them as a councillor at the Shire of Boddington.
